Recap: May Disability and Health Partners Meeting
Connecting to Reach our Full Potential
View Presentations

Thanks to everyone who had a part in making this year's Disability and Health Partner's Meeting a success. Over the course of the meeting current topics in health care access and policy, surveillance, evaluation, developing your success story, and community partners were examined in concurrent breakout sessions, networking socials, and round table discussions. Plenary panels featured engaging, interactive dialogue on critical issues which impact all partners at a national, regional, and state level, such as emergency preparedness, measuring success, and access to health care for people with disabilities. Attendees included Disability and Health State Implementation Projects, Public Health Practice and Resource Centers, State Health Departments, and officials from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). Meeting notes will be available in mid-July.

Transition to Adult Health Guide

Elizabeth M. Boggs Center on Developmental Disabilities

The Boggs Center (NJ UCEDD) has a new transition to adult health care guide. Being a Healthy Adult: How to Advocate for Your Health and Health Care was written to help young adults with disabilities learn how to become effective self-advocates for their own health and health care. This guide will also be very helpful for adults with disabilities of all ages who want to take a more active role in advocating for their health care. The guide includes activities, worksheets, and tips for communicating with health care providers, keeping track of personal health information, and figuring out what supports will assist each individual with making the health-related choices that are right for him or her. Free print copies and audio recordings of the guide are available in English and Spanish. For more information, email Kathy Roberson or call 732-235-931.

Child HealthWorks Nutrition Education Catalogue

Children's Hospital Los Angeles

Make nutrition education fun and delicious with the Child HealthWorks Nutrition Education Catalogue. Integrating nutrition into the early education curriculum can have an exceptional impact on the food choices made later in life. This tool provides educators with a unique list of materials, from cookbooks to storybooks and in-class activities to ensure that young children gain the opportunity to make healthy food choices early in life.
