

AUCD Policy Talk features writing by both established and emerging leaders in the AUCD network and disability community about disability policy. We believe in all kinds of perspectives on disability as experienced through different ways. Storytelling about policy allows us to lift up real-life stories to connect individuals to our mission. AUCD's believes in policies to improve the health, education, social, and economic well-being of all people with developmental and other disabilities, their families, and their communities by supporting our members in research, education, health, and service activities that achieve our vision. AUCD Policy Talk is where any person can find disability policy expertise from many voices in the field for a future in which all people, including those living with developmental and other disabilities, are fully included, participating members of their communities. Our general and specific submission guidelines are below.

General Submission Guidelines

AUCD Policy Talk is looking for:

- Submissions by anyone who identifies as a person with a disability or family member, AUCD Network member, current or former Emerging Leaders (Trainees) including those hoping to share a story about the impact of policy in their lives. We also will occasionally publish work by featured guests.
- Writing from the lived experience of disability and disability policy

Please note:

- We are open for submissions year-round.
- Standard response time is two weeks.
- We will accept work that might have already been published in another newsletter
- Please send submissions rrodgers@aucd.org after reading the blog specific guidelines (see below).
- Authors and photographers have rights. Please credit us if your work is republished, and please be sure to let us know so we can celebrate your achievements!
- With the publication of each issue, we will feature our blog writers via Facebook, Twitter, and our newsletter.

Specific Guidelines

We seek posts for our AUCD Policy Talk site. Send submissions to rrodgers@aucd.org in the text of an email and include the words "AUCD Policy Talk" in the subject line.

We're looking for 500- to 1000-word posts with a title that excites, educates, and shares others about disability policy in action. Any references to policies, research, or additional materials can and should be included by attachments or website links. Include a brief bio, picture with image description, and social media accounts for yourself and your Center (if affiliated with one).

Some possible topics to consider include competitive integrated employment, transition from sheltered workshop to competitive integrated employment, restraint and seclusion in schools, long-term services and supports, Medicare for All, etc. and a sample posts by Rylin and Sarah.
