AUCD Public Policy Committee

Purpose, Leadership & Member Expectations

Purpose

The Association of University Centers on Disabilities (AUCD) advocates for legislative issues critical to individuals with disabilities, their families, and the researchers, service providers and educators interested in improving outcomes for individuals with disabilities across the lifespan. The AUCD Public Policy Committee supports the mission, vision, and values of AUCD by supporting AUCD’s efforts to advance disability-related policies and practices that improve lives. The AUCD Public Policy Committee:

- Develops policy advocacy leadership across the diversity of network members (e.g., IDDRC, LEND, UCEDD);
- Develops bi-annual priority legislative issues in collaboration with the AUCD Board of Directors;
- Monitors key policy issues at the federal level that affect the disability community;
- Improves communication and understanding of federal (and key state) policy issues among AUCD network members;
- Engages AUCD network members in federal and state policy advocacy; and,
- Supports policy advocacy involvement of individuals directly affiliated with network members, including emerging leaders (e.g., trainees and early career professionals, self-advocates, family members, and other individuals with lived experience).

Public Policy Committee Composition

The AUCD Public Policy Committee is composed of the full AUCD Public Policy team (AUCD staff), one Chair, three Co-Chairs, and AUCD network member representatives either appointed by individual member organizations or self-selected with the approval of the individual’s supervisor. Each AUCD network member organization [i.e., Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities Research Center (IDDRC), Leadership in Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (LEND), and University Center for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD)] is encouraged to assign at least one representative to the AUCD Public Policy Committee.
