

MMI Product Development

Academic Course or Distance Learning Module

Academic Course: Written educational programs intended for delivery in multiple segments and designed to drive instruction by identifying the skills and concepts to be taught, teaching strategies to be used, and evaluation methods to be used to measure student achievement.

Distance Learning Module: Same as Academic Course/module but presented via web, telehealth, etc.

Excludes (appropriate reporting form): Conference presentations or Posters (Conference Presentations and Posters), PowerPoint slides (Other); Inservices, Seminars, webinars, and guest lectures (presented in person or electronically) are considered activities and should be reported using either the "Preservice Preparation" activity form or the "Continuing Education - Community Training" activity form.

Program Type

UCEDD

LEND

Title:

Authors:

LEND Affiliation: _____

Date Course/Module was created: ____ / ____ mm yyyy

Type of Product:

Academic Course

Distance Learning Module

Type of Distance Learning Module: _____

Target Audience (select all that apply):

Consumers/Families

Professionals

Policymakers

Students

Website address to view product:

Brief Description:

Alternative Formats (check all that apply):

Captioned

Braille

Audio

Electronic

Visual Format/Large Print

Language other than English

Ordering Information:

Name: _____

Department: _____

You may save this form on your computer by giving each record a unique name. This is recommended if this is a submitted or accepted article that will/may later be reported as a published article.

Click the SUBMIT button to send this record directly to Paula Swanson.