

The UCEDD Leadership Institute is back in 2014!

After another successful year, the UCEDD Leadership Institute will be back in 2014 to help prepare the next generation of leaders. Please consider recommending your staff for the 2014 class of future UCEDD leaders representing the full diversity of the country.

83% of Leadership Institute Participants were Highly Satisfied with the Experience

In the participants' own words:

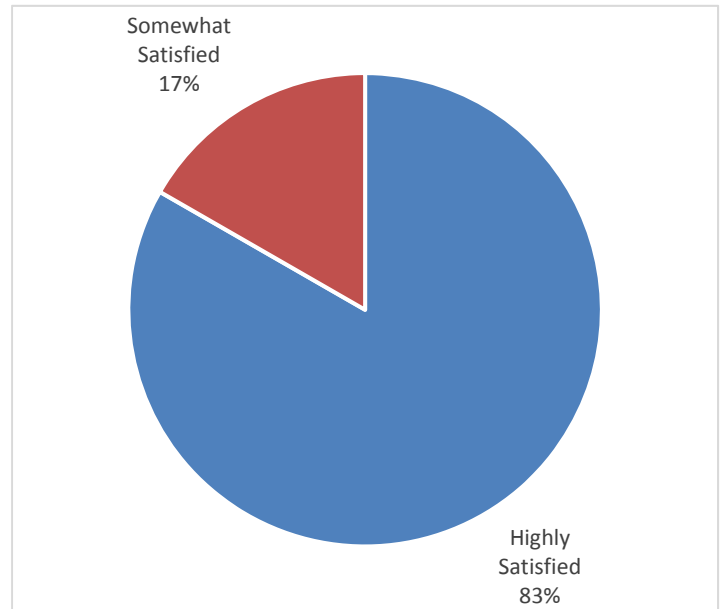

"This was truly a transformative experience."

"This was the most valuable training I have ever attended."

"The content arrests you and will captivate your attention throughout the week. At the end of the Institute, you will know you are prepared to assume greater leadership responsibility."

"The peer to peer connection is invaluable."

"Do you want to know if you have the right stuff to be a UCEDD Leader? Join the Leadership Institute!"

The Leadership Institute focuses on leadership skills and a progressive philosophy toward people with disabilities

The Institute includes presentations from leaders in the UCEDD network, federal government officials, leaders of national associations and advocacy organizations, self-advocates, family members, and experts in leadership development and person-centered supports.

Follow up surveys showed an increase in participants' comfort with networking, understanding of their organizations' political structure, and desire to lead others in pursuing a common vision. Participants have also noted an increased commitment to the direction of their Center, increased focus on their professional development, and interest in taking on leadership roles within the overall AUCD network (i.e. Chair of National Training Directors Council (NTDC)). Furthermore, several participants reported leadership promotions within their UCEDD, including Director and Deputy Director.
