

Nisbet/Bacon Reactions

Question 1:

Interdisciplinary research - HEOA

Power of CAC using it more strategically

Going to visit the vice-provost for research

Getting involved in key committees

Power of collaboration and missed opportunities

University connection – value to both parties and how to engage common difficulties.

History – two strong female leaders, e.g. “chicks in charge” mentoring one another in a traditionally male environment

ADD Core grant and how it is meant to be used as leverage.

Importance of good management skills for demonstrating competence.

Presentation was powerful, but accessible. Thanks.

Jan offered to visit any time.

All 4 leaders we have heard are so different.

It is great to have multiple perspectives.

After hearing presenter, we feel more comfortable in our emerging leadership positions.

The research provost perspective was very helpful.

It is great to hear ideas about how to work with our universities. What UCEDD's bring to the table.

Great to hear how to use CAC's to be productive.

Question 2:

More ideas to you use your CAC?

People are invested in their work not university so relationships are not developed. What can I bring back to help people see the value for themselves and their UCEDD?

Ideas for interdisciplinary research?

Tips for women re: balancing leadership roles and family roles.

How to balance leadership and management – how to know what to focus on when.

Why did Andy's institute leave the medical center (they did not leave but did incorporate separately).
Big picture-not nit picky details that might be private.

We want to know more about work groups and how you sustain them.

Jan, you got a call from the President during sabbatical. Why did he call you? What did you do to set up that opportunity?

What university committees are important to work on?