CLINICAL/COUNSELING PSYCHOLOGY POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP

POSITION DESCRIPTION:

This is a newly-funded one-year and fulltime postdoctoral clinical/counseling psychology fellowship program currently recruiting several pre-licensed individuals who are seeking advanced training in evidence-based treatment for mental health conditions that commonly present within interdisciplinary community settings. The patient populations will consist of adult and adolescent patients/clients within settings that include telehealth and traditional outpatient therapy. These settings include:

- An innovative youth drop-in setting.
- A substance use residential treatment/intensive outpatient program (IOP).
- The University of California Leadership Education in Neurodevelopmental Disabilities (UC-LEND) Clinic: A multidisciplinary service for families and individuals with ADHD, autism, and related neurodevelopmental disabilities.
- The Gender Health Program (GHP): A multidisciplinary health service specializing in the medical and mental health care of children, adolescents and adults experiencing gender dysphoria.

Each fellow will rotate through multiple clinic locations to gain the full breadth of therapeutic modalities among a diversity of Los Angeles populations served by UCLA Health and its affiliates. Postdoctoral fellows are expected to also participate in weekly didactics and complete a scholarly/quality improvement project by month 9 of fellowship. This postdoctoral fellowship program is run by the Internal Medicine-Pediatrics & Preventive Medicine section of the Division of General Internal Medicine and Health Services Research within the Department of Medicine at the David Geffen School of Medicine at UCLA. This fellowship program is not yet APA accredited.

QUALIFICATIONS:

- PhD/PsyD in Clinical Psychology or Counseling Psychology (complete by fellowship start date)
- Completion of pre-doctoral internship by fellowship start date
- Skill and experience in providing psychological clinical services to patients with acute or chronic medical problems and their families
- Advanced training in various evidence-based approaches to individual psychotherapy with adolescents and adults
- Experience in group psychotherapy with adolescents and adults
- Knowledge of state and federal laws and legal requirements
